From a Danish upbringing, transplanted into Australia for almost all of his own schooling years, Allan has made his career primarily in secondary school education. This year he took up the leadership position of the Cooma school.

Motivated to put his South Aust. training to the test, Allan moved briefly to Tasmania before taking his new wife to Thailand for 6 years, teaching both nationals and expatriates. The last 8 years have been spent establishing a new high school, implementing a newly acquired master's degree.

Capture some of his under 40 energy: come, & hear the passion that engages this man.
