Graeme began his career in the NSW Public management of forests. This satisfaction led into the broader environmental forestry operation and management so that ultimately he embraced the very fulfilling work of both natural and cultural heritage management under NPWS.

Ready now to build on that career he took a new challenge:- all the people who oversee the natural world. His passion is to give a strong lead and voice for family, faith and freedom through his position as State Officer for FamilyVoice Australia, NSW/ACT.

Let Graeme's talk arouse our thinking about man's behaviour and the shaping of the world we live in. It will be an opportunity not to miss for issues of today.
